Ture Great Eventscoon Fair —The fair

THE GREAT BURLINGTON FAIR,-The fair The Great Burlington Fair.—The fair at Howard Park next week is sure to be the biggest event this year in the Champlain valley. The managers are sparing no pains to make fair week at the park one of pleasure for all who attend, having provided a programme which in its variety of entertaining features will eclipse anything heretofore attempted. The free variety entertainment each day of the fair is a new feature at the park and secured at considerable expense to the association, but the managers are bound to give the people their gers are bound to give the people their money's worth and a good time. The re-duction of the price of admission to twentyduction of the price of admission to twenty-five cents is a liberal concession and will, without doubt, be the means of doubling the usual attendance. The famous Sher-man band will render its finest music, while the circuit races by the grandest field of trotters and paces ever seen in the state will be of unusual interest. Entries for pre-miums already received indicate that all de-partments will he was well filled. The partments will be we well filled. The war is over and it is fitting that the farmers' an-nual festival be made a time of general rejoicing over the glorious victories of our gallant soldiers and sailors.

ALBERT COLEMAN and Frank Hill of West Berlin were thrown from their wagon on Main street last Saturday evening and Coleman was severely injured. He struck on his head and was rendered unconscious. Dr. C. E. Chandler was called, but found no fracture of the skull as feared. The injured man revived later in the evening and was conversed to his home. Charles street, and was derailed. Only a few passengers were aboard, and no one was injured. While the shower was at its worst the storage tank on the upper floor of French block burst, flooding the rooms un-derneath occupied by tenants, and damag-ing somewhat the stock of Marvin & Sherburne on the ground floor. THE real estate, business, residence, and street directory of the city of Montpeller and Berlin side, compiled by Martin W Wheelock, is now ready for delivery. It is more comprehensive and complete than any directory of Montpelier ever printed by outside parties. In this work Mr. Wheel-ock has had the valuable assistance of ock has had the valuable assistance of Sheriff Bancroft who has long been recog-nize as authority in matters of this kind. The city directory contains many new and important features regarding wards through which the streets pass, and the residence directory, which was compiled with un-usual care, is of real value. Kennedy, president of the Montpelier and Barre electric railroad, was at Waitsfield last week and met several of the leading men in Waitsfield, Warren and Middlesex. He was given assurance that the people of that locality are willing to assist materially in building this road and it is thought the $50,000 required will be easily raised. Should the road be built to Montpelier it is thought that the business men of this city Should the road be built to atompener it is thought that the business men of this city will be asked to contribute an additional $50,000, and the remainder of the capital necessary will be furnished by outside parties represented by Mr. Kennedy.

WHEN Trinity church was completed and wars frintly church was completed and tendy for dedication in November, 1874, a debt of $4,000 was hanging over the society. Every member of the church and congregation had paid every dollar they felt they could afford towards the new church, but all very much desired to dedicate the edifice free from debt. The late David R. Gray generously advanced the money to pay this indebtedness, stipulating that the church pay six per cent interest on this sum during the lifetime of himself and his wife, and at their decease the principal should revert to the church. His proposition was gratefully accepted. During the twenty-four years accepted. During the twenty-four years that have since elapsed the $240 per annum has been regularly paid, amounting in the aggregate to $5,760. The death last week of Mrs. Gray, as noted elsewhere, discharges the obligation. Mr. Gray died four years ago.
